Jordan River for about 20 minutes. They were identified as forward bases for attacks on Israeli settlements.

Later, the jets returned to hit another guerrilla base in the Jordan Valley.

On Thursday night, a spokesman said, an Israeli force sniped out a seven-man guerrilla squad near the Lebanese frontier in the biggest clash since the cease-fire took effect. One Israeli soldier was wounded.

Three other Arab guerrillas died and an Israeli soldier was wounded on Thursday night in a battle in the hills of the Samaria region, south of the Galilee and the frontier with Jordan, an Israeli spokesman said.

Pornography Commission: Broad, Open Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Repeal of all legal restrictions prohibiting adults from buying or possessing pornography reportedly has won final approval from the President's Commission on Pornography despite opposition from White House officials.

Recommendations for laws against exposure of children to obscene pictures and a nationwide "sex re-education" program were also approved at a final commission meeting Thursday, a commission source said.

It also calls for broad and open public discussion across the country—based on facts rather than fears—to forge a public consensus on the availability of pornography.

The arguments for the most controversial recommendation, repeal of all U. S. adult censorship laws, have been extensively rewritten since the Associated Press disclosed a draft report three weeks ago. But the recommendation is almost unchanged.

The commission recommends federal, state and local legislation prohibiting the sale, exhibition or distribution of sexual materials to consenting adults should be repealed.

"We believe there is no warrant for continued governmental interference of full freedom of adults to read, obtain or view what materials they wish."

REP. MCCARTHY

Lie Test — Both Politicos Truthful

BUFFALO (AP) — Congressional candidates Thomas P. Flaherty and Rep. Richard Max McCarthy have results of lie detector tests that show both were truthful when they gave contradictory statements on an alleged political deal.

The polygraph operators who administered the tests at separate private investigation agencies in Buffalo Thursday said they, too, were satisfied the respective men they tested "had lied."

What led to the testing was Flaherty's charge Tuesday that McCarthy offered him a Democratic judicial nomination, $10,000 in campaign funds if he would drop out of the House race.

Both are Democrats, but Flaherty received the party endorsement in the 39th District after McCarthy spurned it in order to run for the U.S. Senate nomination, which he lost. He now is trying for re-election to a fourth term as an independent.

McCarthy denied Flaherty's specific charges about the reported offer but he did concede that the two met in a city park Aug. 7 to discuss their positions.

He said Wednesday he would file suit against Flaherty for defamation of character.

A Buffalo television station, WGR-TV, suggested that the men undergo lie detector tests.

Flaherty accepted the offer, but McCarthy turned it down, saying he would rather have a matter affecting his "entire reputation" decided by a court than by "a notoriously inaccurate machine."

Flaherty answered 11 questions about his charges Thursday afternoon and the polygraph operator, John C. Rapp, said that from the machine's indications, "There is absolutely no question in my mind that Mr. Flaherty told the absolute truth about what happened..."

Flaherty said he was "not surprised" by the results since "I told the truth on every question, absolutely."

Harold C. Mero, another polygraphist, said he had heard Mc-

Carthy's "derogatory remarks" about the machine's accuracy and challenged the congressman to take the test.

"He (McCarthy) had a misconception and I thought he ought to be straightened out," Mero said in explaining his invitation. "Now he's pretty happy about the outcome."

On the answers to the questions put to him during the evening test, Mero said, McCarthy "was all truthful."

For his own part, McCarthy said:

"The results show I was telling the truth when I said I could not secure the judicial nomination for Mr. Flaherty and... when I said I did not mention my friends would assist him if he decided to run for judge."

The source said there was some final-session vote switching against the repeal recommendation but not enough to alter final approval.

The 18 member commission completed its work with a seven-hour session Wednesday and a six-hour session Thursday, the source added, and almost certainly will not meet again although it does not go out of business until the end of September.

The report, plus 10 volumes of supporting research, are to be released in the next two to three weeks.

3 Syracuse Policemen Face Charges of Assault

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Three Syracuse police officers, suspended earlier in a probe of alleged attacks on four Puerto Rican youths, had departmental charges brought against them Thursday, Mayor Lee Alexander disclosed.

The counts, Alexander said, included assault and battery, observing other policemen engaged in assault and battery without preventing it, violation of police rules of conduct, abuse of the boys' right and the use of profanity. Police Chief Thomas J. Sardino signed the charges late Thursday. They were to be served immediately.

No criminal charges have been placed against the trio, according to Alexander, who said criminal action would depend on the district attorney or a grand jury. The victims of the alleged beating would have to file affidavits prior to any criminal action he added.

The four youths had claimed they were attacked Monday night without cause. Alexander told newsmen police were looking for suspects in a series of window smashing incidents on the city's south side. None of the four was arrested.

Prior to Alexander's announcement of the charges Thursday, he appointed city assessment commissioner Robert Srogi to act as hearing officer in the case. Alexander said Srogi was named after a preliminary inquiry by Sardino's office revealed what he called misconduct by the three officers, identified as James Finch, 27, Forrest Planck, 24, and John Schadt, 28. Their suspensions took effect noon Thursday.

Puerto Rican residents of the city gathered outside Sardino's office late Wednesday and demanded a lineup of policemen.

Sardino refused but the group left the public safety building after an official of the Human Rights Commission told them his office would prepare a report for Alexander and Sardino on the alleged beatings.

The Madison 'Gang' — A Warning

MADISON, Wis. (UPI)—An underground group claiming credit for the bombing at the University of Wisconsin says that if its demands are not met by Oct. 30 it will take "revolutionary measures of an intensity never before seen in this country... open warfare, kidnapping of important officials and even assassination."

A statement by the group, which calls itself "The New Year's Gang," appeared Thursday in a special edition of the Madison underground newspaper, Kaleidoscope.

The statement said the bombing of the U.S. Army Mathematics Research Center, which killed a researcher and injured four other persons early Monday, was "part of a worldwide struggle to defeat American imperialism."

The FBI, which is coordinating an investigation of the blast by some 80 agents and officers, declined comment on either the Kaleidoscope report or the investigation.

"The battle cry against imperialism was raised once again as the Mathematics Research Center of the U.S. Army was struck by revolutionary cadre of The New Year's Gang," the statement read.

"The vanguard of the revolution demands the immediate release of the Milwaukee 3 (Black Panthers arrested in Milwaukee), the abolition of ROTC, and the elimination of male supremacist women's hours (in dormitories) on the Wisconsin campus."

"If these demands are not met by Oct. 30, revolutionary measures of an intensity never before seen in this country will be taken by our cadres. Open warfare, kidnapping of important officials and even assassination will not be ruled out."

The statement in Kaleidoscope expressed regret over the death of Robert E. Fassnacht, 33, a research physicist and father of three, who was killed in the Monday pre-dawn blast which also damaged nearby buildings and could be heard for miles.

Tate Trial — Prints Due

By JACK V. FOX

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Fingerprints placing two "Manson Family" members at the home of actress Sharon Tate were expected to be introduced today at the murder trial of the hippie cult members.

Testimony by Linda Kasabian so far has been the only prosecution evidence charging definitely that Charles Manson's followers on the murder scene and—without corroboration—probably would not bring a conviction.

Deputy District Attorney Aaron Stovitz said the state would call experts to testify they found the prints of Charles "Tex" Watson on objects in the Tate home.

Miss Krenwinkel is one of the three female codefendants at the trial. Watson, still resisting extradition from Texas, has his prints matched with those made when he was arrested on a minor traffic charge before the killings in August, 1969.

Stovitz conceded the state did not have any fingerprints from the home of grocer Leno LaBianca, murdered with his wife the next night.

A police homicide sergeant testified at the trial Thursday that pillow cases had been pulled over the heads of the LaBiancas and electric lamp cords knotted around the necks but that apparently neither put up a struggle with their killers.

Innocent Plea in the 'Pot' Growing

By WALTER S. CLARK

Charged with criminal possession of dangerous drugs third degree and growing marijuana in violation of the Public Health Law, 29-year-old Gerald Arroyo of 85 Abeel Street, pleaded innocent Thursday before City Judge Hubert A. Richter.

In lieu of $10,000 bail, Arroyo was remanded to the Ulster County jail and preliminary hearing was scheduled for Monday at 9 a.m.

The defendant was taken into custody Wednesday afternoon following an intensive investigation by detectives of a report that marijuana was growing in the yard back of the residence occupied by Arroyo. A detective went to the Abeel Street address and saw the illegal plants numbering 40. He summoned other detectives and uniformed officers, and dug up the roots. They also confiscated the stalks and roots of other plants that had been cut down before authorities arrived. Arroyo was reported to have told investigators that he had thrown away the marijuana plants that had an expert on narcotics.

Authorities said the seized growing the marijuana since plants were valued at $5,000 or May. Their estimate of retail value was made after the weeds had been examined by Mayone, continuing the inquiry.

OEO Case—Clinton Happy

By JON POWERS

ELLENVILLE

Ellenville Trustee DeWitt Clinton, who earlier leveled charges of electioneering against the Office of Economic Opportunity branch in Ellenville, this week indicated that he's "satisfied" with the outcome of the investigation.

Clinton, however, expressed dismay that a youthful employee of OEO was used as a "scapegoat" for the activities of the office as a whole. "She was not entirely responsible," said Clinton in reference to Lydia Adell, 17-year-old OEO aide who has since left the Wawarsing Neighborhood Service Center. "She was led by others who were using any means they could to defeat our (the Republicans) candidacy," said Clinton.

The controversy was ignited when Clinton reportedly observed a sample voting machine set up in the OEO office that was being used to instruct semi-literate persons on voting procedures. That machine was found to contain the names of Democratic candidates legibly printed in their appropriate places while the names of Republican candidates were abbreviated and written in smaller print. Clinton maintained that it was not a coincidence that the Democrats favored public housing while the Republicans had expressed disapproval over previously submitted proposals.

Clinton speculated that, if the investigation had been conducted by an independent agency rather than by OEO itself, "they would have come up with a lot more." Clinton added, "They developed a lot of evidence that they didn't act on." Clinton nevertheless commended Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr., for instigating the investigation and expressed hope that the substantiation of his claims would prevent further similar occurrences.

Ellenville Clinic—Good, Bad News

By JON POWERS

ELLENVILLE The struggling Southern Ulster Mental Health Clinic in Ellenville received both a setback and some encouragement following its request for operating funds from the Wawarsing Town Board recently.

The setback came in the form of an announcement by Supervisor Frank W. Harkin that there were no additional funds available to support operations of the clinic. An encouraging note was sounded by town officials, however, when they indicated that financial support for the clinic may be provided when next year's town budget is drawn up in October.

Eugene Glusker, president of the local clinic, learned recently that the town was scheduled to receive an additional $40,000 in state aid. He asked the town board to allot half that amount to the Mental Health Clinic.

Glusker, former Ellenville mayor, was informed however, that the town had not received official notification that the money had been earmarked for Wawarsing and that they couldn't commit what they didn't have. Additionally, Harkin indicated that the money should be applied to next year's town budget to help reduce the tax burden on town residents.

Town officials also indicated that they felt the local clinic should be supported by the county, a prospect many officials feel is unlikely.

Earlier reports indicated that Emeline Hayward, director of the Mental Health Department would not consider including Ellenville in a county-wide system of satellite clinics until a deputy director of the Mental Health Department assumes office.

The hiring of a deputy director, however, still will not guarantee county support of the Ellenville clinic, according to recent reports. Mental Health Department officials noted that other facets must be taken into consideration before any final decision regarding the southern Ulster clinic is made.

Further doubts as to the inclusion of Ellenville into the county-wide setup were raised when it was learned that the county has initially agreed to help the clinic obtain state funds, rather than providing those funds directly, as Glusker and other clinic officials had expected.

It was further noted at the Town Board meeting that the local clinic must first prove its eligibility for state aid before funding from Albany can be expected.

In the meantime, the Ellenville clinic is maintaining a "status quo" operation, according to Glusker. But "status quo" for the clinic these days means little more than mere existence. The Ellenville clinic was established this spring through private funding and donations and Glusker indicated that another general appeal to the public may have to be made. To date, the clinic has been provided with facilities in the basement of the village building but it has no operating capital to work with. The question now is whether that capital will be provided by the state, the county, the town, the public, or whether it will be provided at all.

Suspect Charged in Haverstraw Death

A Murder Arrest in Wawarsing

By WALTER S. CLARK

WAWARSING

A 27-year-old Westchester County man was taken into custody here Thursday by State Police from Ellenville and Stony Point and charged with the drug death of a 22-year-old Haverstraw man more than four months ago in Rockland County.

Senior BCI Investigator H. J. Reichman of Ellenville and three BCI agents of the State Police from Stony Point located the suspect, William Pinckney of Yonkers staying in a house near here during the investigation of the death of John Muthig of Haverstraw.

Pinckney had been staying in this area for some time, it was reported.

The suspect was picked up on a sealed bench warrant previously handed up by a Rockland County grand jury.

Pinckney was charged with manslaughter, criminally negligent homicide and criminally selling dangerous drugs.

Muthig, authorities said, died of an overdose of morphine. His body was found in the Bronx 4½ months ago, police said. Two other men, not identified, have been charged with transporting the body of the victim to the Bronx.

The arrest of Pinckney yesterday climaxed a long search, it was said by authorities. He was returned to Rockland County by BCI officers and committed to jail pending court appearance on the charges.

Meanwhile, Leeds State Police reported the arrest of two Liberty youths on charges of criminal possession of dangerous drugs fourth degree, a felony, and possessing an implement capable of administering narcotics.

Meanwhile, arrested on the State Thruway at 1:30 a. m. today in the Town of Catskill by BCI Investigator R. I. Ryap of the Leeds station, were Stephen Fleckenstein, 19, of 380 North Main Street, and 18-year-old Timothy Oscar Woodard of 67 Lake Street, both of Liberty.

Ryan said the two youths were on their way to Lake George when they were stopped for a routine check. The investigator reported the pair had in their possession a "pot" pipe and approximately four ounces of marijuana.

Arraigned before Catskill Town Justice Charles Link, both defendants pleaded innocent and were committed to the Greene County jail in lieu of $2,500 bail each.

Another narcotics arrest was reported by Highland State Police. Troopers G. P. Rebhan and D. E. Sandford arrested 20-year-old Fred Jerez of Staten Island after they stopped him at 1:30 a. m. today on Route 44-55 in the Town of Gardiner.

Troopers said Jerez was in possession of a quantity of marijuana and an implement described as a "roach tweezer" which authorities noted is used to hold a marijuana cigarette when it burns close to the end.

Jerez was arraigned before Gardiner Town Justice Samuel Stokes. He was permitted to plead guilty to possessing the implement and to a reduced charge, a misdemeanor, stemming from the marijuana. Jerez was fined a total of $75. He paid the fine.

52nd Legion Parley Begins Cloaked With Extra Guard

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—With the National Guard called out and the county sheriff given special emergency powers to deal with any possible trouble from antiwar demonstrators, the American Legion's 52nd national convention opened here today.

Camped a few miles away from the convention were 8,000 persons belonging to antiwar groups.

Multnomah County, declaring there was "great danger of civil disorder," gave its sheriff unprecedented power to enter private property in 19 areas without a search warrant.

Oregon Governor Tom McCall called out National Guard units and Mayor Terry Schunk took over personal control of the city government from a board of commissioners.

Blast Shatters Entrance
In Seattle, 125 miles north of Portland, a bomb blast early today shattered the south entrance to the American Legion headquarters. No one was injured.

The legion is in Portland for "only the betterment of our God and our country," National Commander J. Milton Patrick said.

There was no public comment from the People's Army Jamboree, a group of youngsters in antiwar groups, but a UPI photographer said a camp set up for them, at nearby Estacada looks "like a swinging thing."

Terry Schmidt, the photographer, said upwards of 8,000 there will be a fashion show were in the camp for Vortex One, a rock festival, and there was a little drug selling and "many girls are bare to the waist."

President Nixon Invited
President Nixon is an invited guest and, if he appears, will have free access to speak on his arrival. There is a possibility he may speak to the convention by a phone or closed TV hookup should the White House feel a concern for his safety because of the emergency status of Portland.

The Rhinebeck Fair—More Features

Another big crowd was in attendance at the 125th Annual Dutchess County Fair on Wednesday, and more large crowds are expected to attend today through Sunday, the final day of the big six-day event.

Complete attendance figures were not available today.

The Oral Cancer Screening Clinic is open for every session during the week of the fair. Last year only four dentists participated but the program was held for five days. This year, because of the increased demand, more dentists were lined up to participate. Dr. S. Joel Schackner, director of St. Francis Hospital's Department of Dentistry, is again supervising the Screening Program in cooperation with the Albany Regional Medical Program. Each of the participating dentists receive a Certificate of Recognition from the American Cancer Society.

Parking Rules Are Continued

ROSENDALE Motorists are cautioned that Mayor Carl Grassi of Rosendale announced today that enforcement will continue for the extended period.

A public hearing regarding alternate side of the street parking on Rosendale's Main Street, which has been in effect on a trial basis for 30 days since July 31, has been extended for an additional 30 days.

Lenefsky Hits Court View

KINGSTON David Lenefsky, candidate for the State Senate, said today that his opponent "was wrong for trying to mislead the public into thinking that the courts are responsible for holding people accused of crime for long periods of time before they receive a trial."

"The fact is that the New York State Legislature has too long neglected to create the needed courts and judgeships to handle the backlog of criminal cases that have accumulated for years in densely populated areas. There would be no court delay," said Lenefsky, "if the State Legislature would re-order its financial priorities and begin to apply efficient management techniques and stop wasting our money on luxuries."

"What my opponent conveniently failed to tell the public is that less than 1 per cent of the State budget goes for operating our court system. The State Legislature, for example, allocates eight times more money to run the Governors Executive Office than it does to operate the entire State court system."

"My opponent should not accuse anyone of being lazy—it is interesting to note that the New York Times reported that only two members of the Senate Committee on Crime and Correction attended the full three days of hearings on the Tombs riots last week, and neither of them was my opponent who brags about his membership on this Senate Committee."

"Instead of talking in political generalities and trying to mislead the public," Lenefsky said, "my opponent should read the recent speech made by Judge Warren Burger (Chief Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court, appointed by President Nixon), in which he deplored the long court delays caused by the shortage of courts and judges."

"My opponent is using the old political trick," concluded Lenefsky, "of placing the blame on others to head off criticism where it rightly belongs—in this case, in the New York State Legislature."

State Establishes Nursing Rates

KINGSTON have been accepting welfare patients however, according to Joseph Fitzsimmons, social services commissioner.

Recently only the Garry, Hadler and Hutton homes have housed persons directed there by the Department of Social Services. At present New Paltz too has begun to accept them.

The rates set by the state are not supposed to reflect any profit, according to Fitzsimmons, who explained that the figures established are based on the kind of care provided as well as the physical accommodations.

Rates sometimes change at various intervals, Fitzsimmons said, when individual nursing homes ask for changes or complain about current rates. If the state feels there is justification for change, it will make adjustments.

Rates set for three Dutchess County nursing facilities are as follows: Central Dutchess Nursing Home, $25.77; Lovely Hill Nursing Home, $21.16 and Tranel Nursing Home, $16.64.

Onteora Schools - All Is in Readiness

By TOBIE GEERTSEMA

BOICEVILLE In a "State of the Schools" address to the Ontario Board of Education, Acting Superintendent Watson I. Goodrich has given the green light for the back to the classroom trek on Sept. 9.

The ready to go signal came in his recent Superintendent's Status Report, in which Goodrich said that staffing, buildings and grounds, supplies and equipment, and bus transportation were well under control for the 1970-71 school year.

All professional staff positions in the Ontario district have been filled, he said, as well as all non-teaching positions, with the exception of a very few teacher aide positions. With a wide choice of applicants for these jobs, he said, hiring in this field poses no problem.

Everything Like New

Goodrich also said that all the buildings and grounds of all district schools are "in the best shape they have ever been in," with most of them deserving of the label, "like new."

All necessary road repair work has been completed over the summer, he said, and all repairs and cleaning work is on schedule.

Onteora would seem to be ahead of the game, too, on the amassing of supplies and equipment. Goodrich said some 80 per cent of all items ordered have been delivered to date and distributed to the various schools in the district. He envisions no major problems existing in this area.

As for the all-important transportation needs, he noted that all district-owned buses are ready to go and that all private bus contracts have been let. In addition, all other contracts have already received State Education Department approval.

Goodrich also briefed the board on activities over the summer, said the Class Size Committee has been meeting and will continue to meet under the terms of the Ontario Teachers Association contract. A report is also expected soon from the Hurley Library Committee, and the Late-Late Bus Committee has completed its study and made recommendations.

The report submitted by the bus committee received Goodrich's recommendation and was approved by the board. After-school transportation at Ontario will follow this schedule: departure time for late buses from Boiceville High School has been changed from 4:15 to 4:45 p.m. daily. Student passengers will be granted bus passes on a first-come-first-served basis.

Goodrich also said the new Student-Faculty-Administrative Council of the high school has met often this summer: worked well together. All census enumerators and all transportation contractors have held recent meetings, and incoming Superintendent of Schools Dr. Frank M. Marlow, has met with all administrators in anticipation of assuming his new duties.

If there are existing problems, Goodrich says, they revolve around the fact that two class sections in the Bennett School will have more than 30 students enrolled in each. Two other elementary classes will have 30 pupils, and 19 classes will be crowded with between 26 and 29 students. This means, says Goodrich, that Ontario now has "one-third of its elementary classes over the magic figure of 25."

Not Enough Coaches

Another problem exists in the athletic department. The secondary division has authorized and badly needs to fill 27 coaching positions, of which more than a dozen are still vacant at this time.

The Acting Superintendent also expects good returns from the Student-Faculty-Administrative Council, a new concept in which these three groups are working together. More information on their accomplishments will be forthcoming soon.

Goodrich also promised that the high school will shortly mail out to the parents of every high school student a copy of the Parent-Student Handbook, spelling out regulations within the district.

With Teacher Orientation Day slated for Tuesday, Sept. 8, the state of the Ontario district at this time is "excellent," says Goodrich. "We will be fully functional in all areas," he notes "for school opening on Wednesday, Sept. 9."

Krinlebusch

A ham dinner will be served at the Krippebusch Community Hall Labor Day, Sept. 7, from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. The event is sponsored annually by the members of the WSCS of the Krippebusch Methodist Church and the community. A bazaar will be featured also. The public may attend.

A rummage sale will be held at the community hall Aug. 28 and 29.

South Korea Arms Deficit

WASHINGTON — Our global strategists, in their $82 billion drive to smash the Viet Cong, have woefully neglected South Korea.

Now they have suddenly awakened to the danger that, while they are trying to end the Vietnam War, belligerent old North Korean Premier Kim Il-sung might be tempted to take advantage of South Korea's weakness and renew the Korean War.

This is the reason Vice President Spiro Agnew hurried to Seoul with plans to modernize South Korea's defense forces. While avoiding a specific commitment, the Vice President assured the South Koreans that the U.S. will furnish new arms as the needs are determined.

The Nixon administration would rather not be pinned down to a total figure, because the amount might alarm Congress. It would also reveal the extent that the U.S. has neglected its pledges to arm South Korea against aggression.

The South Koreans have lived up to their part of the bargain. They have built what the Pentagon acknowledges is the finest army in Asia. But while new military equipment has gone to rust on open lots in overstocked warehouses in South Vietnam, the South Korean Army has struggled along on cast-off equipment. World War II weapons and ragtag supplies.

South Korean pilots still fly

F-86 fighterplanes left over from the Korean War. And South Korean soldiers still carry carbines and M-1 rifles left over from World War II.

U.S. observers have reported seeing South Koreans on maneuvers training with signs, which read "bazooka" "machine gun," instead of the real weapons. Only 10,000 modern M-16 rifles have filtered through to the South Korean Army.

This column has seen the classified figures, which show how dangerously North Korea has surpassed South Korea in firepower. These ominous comparisons, which now confront Agnew in Seoul, ought not to be hidden from the American people. For security reasons, we will present them in round numbers.

Air Power — North Korea has 500 fighter-bomber interceptors, including more than 100 supersonic MIG-21s. South Korea has only 200 fighters, 58 per cent of them antiquated, subsonic F-86s. North Korea also has 90 bombers capable of reaching Seoul within 10 minutes and unloading 550 tons of high explosives in the first assault. The South Koreans have no bombers at all. North Korea has another 80 transport planes and 20 helicopters. South Korea only half that many.

Artillery Power — North Korea has 2,700 heavy artillery pieces, 4,000 mortars and 1,800 anti-aircraft weapons. South Korea has only 1,700 artillery pieces, 2,000 mortars and 350 anti-aircraft guns. The North Koreans also have 700 short range rockets capable of firing 20 rounds at once, another 20 missiles with a 60-mile range, and 210 ground-to-air missiles. South Korea has no ground rockets or missiles, only 80 anti-aircraft missiles.

Sea Power — The North Korean Navy has 110 vessels that can reach 30 knots, another 14 high-speed, missile-carrying speedboats that can hit 40 knots. South Korea has only three destroyers good for 30 knots, no missile speedboats at all. North Korea has an additional 160 gunboats, 35 minesweepers and four snorkel submarines. The South Koreans have less than 30 gunboats, 10 minesweeper and no subs.

The comparative figures, however, aren't as appalling as the obsolescence. One-fourth of South Korea's ships were surplus, lend-lease models over 20 years old when they were turned over. Now they are obsolete old rustbuckets.

The South Koreans have also been forced to cannibalize their old World War II trucks and jeeps to keep them rolling. They are now down to less than 45 per cent of the vehicles they require. Of these, 75 per cent have passed the age they should have been consigned to the scrap heap.

In case war should break out again in Korea, the North Koreans have stockpiled 1,230,000 tons of grain, enough to feed its population for five months. The oil reserves are reported to be over 180,000 tons, enough to last 75 days at war-consumption rates. The North Korean Army also has over 230,000 tons of ammunition stashed away in caves, enough to keep their guns booming for two months.

In contrast, the South Koreans were so short of reserve supplies this spring that some critical items were down to less than a 15-day stock pile. Most of the shortages have now been brought back to a 30-to-45-day level.

What is even more ominous, if the U.S. is ever to turn the defense of South Korea back to the South Koreans, is military production. North Korea has 19 factories capable of producing 73 million small-arms rounds, 6.5 million hand grenades, 630,000 artillery rounds, 14,000 tons of explosives, 150,000 rifles and 300 mortars.

The National Security Council doesn't believe Kim Il-sung will renew hostilities as long as the U.S. maintains troops in South Korea. Some strategists fear, however, that the announced withdrawal of 20,000 troops will encourage the North Korean ruler to conclude that the U.S. is pulling out. He has been chafing to reunify Korea under his communist banner, and he has also demonstrated a disturbing willingness to take military risks.

Footnote: Man for man, South Korea's 625,000-man army is considered superior to North Korea's small, 465,000-man army. But North Korea has a paramilitary reserve force of 1,380,000 men who are well trained and under rigid communist discipline. South Korea has a reserve force almost as large, but it is composed strictly of volunteers. Not only do they receive no pay, but they actually pay their own training expenses.

That Buckley Rally

We're wondering whether we're witnessing a grass roots phenomenon that will spread to other sections of New York State or strictly a local posture taken by unhappy Ulster County Republicans.

We're talking about that 'Support Buckley' meeting held at the Governor Clinton Hotel Wednesday night at which more than 100 disaffected GOPers pledged not only their verbal support but cash to the U.S. senatorial campaign of Conservative Party aspirant Jim Buckley.

Buckley hopes to best Democratic candidate Richard L. Ottinger and the controversial incumbent Charles Goodell in a three-cornered battle that is shaping up as quite a horse race. Republican Goodell, the former upstate GOP congressman from Jamestown, who was appointed to the Senate to fill the unexpired term of the late Robert F. Kennedy has been accused by many of his detractors of changing his political stripes from those of a moderate to a somewhat zealous liberal.

His support—or rather lack of it—for many of President Nixon's major policies has led many a party faithful to yell for his scalp.

So now the ball is rolling for Buckley in Ulster County.

How far it gets is still problematical but any political observer should be delighted in watching the reactions of some of our local Republican powers such as Assemblyman H. Clark Bell, Republican County Chairman Al Spada and a few others.

Portland Encounter

Americans have always had a certain respect for the American Legion. They have not always agreed with its views, stated at its conventions, on world affairs. They have had a keen distaste for some of its obvious lobbying in the national and state governments to get bills of special interest to them approved. Its pranks and overdisplay of exuberance of its members at its conventions have irked citizens of the cities where they were held.

Yet, when all is said and done, the men (and women) in the white overseas caps bring back memories to those who are old enough to remember of a time when they pitted their lives against the hordes of madmen such as Hitler, and Kaiser Wilhelm, both of whom had dreams of dominating the world. Or when they stopped communism's march into South Korea. Younger Americans know the glorious war history of these veterans fully as well as their elders, if not from first hand.

Now comes a group of young Americans who will dedicate themselves to harassing a Legion national convention and trying to make mockery of all the Legion stands for. It will happen in Portland, Oregon, this weekend. There the American Legion will hold its annual convention. At the same time, another group, calling itself People's Army Jamboree, will also hold forth there. The latter's purpose will be to protest, presumably in the demonstrative and disorderly manner of young dissenters, the Legion's position on issues of the day. This, of course, will include the veterans' defense of their flag and country. Estimates are of 40,000 dissenters, versus 25,000 legionnaires.

The good people of Portland naturally are apprehensive. They have formed a group of their own, to act as peacemaker, if such is needed, between the two larger groups. Since they will have no real police powers, and their numbers won't be comparatively large, it is questionable how effective they can be if rioting breaks out.

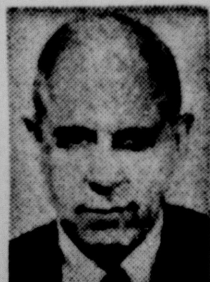

Aside from what might happen in the Northwest city is this breaking down of the old order, one that has held for a half century. Obviously, the young people concerned have no great respect for the American Legion or what it stands for. The legionnaires represent the squares of the world, the flag wavers, nothing more to the "now" youngsters.

Thus does the gulf grow ever wider between the now generation and their elders as the former shows an almost feverish desire to meet head-on and destroy a cherished American tradition.

Economic Upturn

WASHINGTON — Although there are some encouraging items in the government statistics about the business situation, "public confidence" — the most important factor in influencing the upward or downward trend in a period of recession — is playing an important role today, as the stock market shows signs of regaining strength, and as a number of major enterprises of the country appear to be moving ahead with plans for the rest of this year and also 1971, the first indications of a real optimism are making their appearance.

The Labor Department has announced that wholesale prices have declined, particularly for farm products, and that lower prices are emerging in various categories of foods. Other signs of a drop in prices are noted in certain articles which often have been responsible for an upward curve in buying. Most significant, however, is the impression now developing that the rate of inflation is continuing to slow down and that while the battle is by no means over, the turning point may have been reached in the struggle to keep the price spiral from disturbing so much of the economy.

Businessmen realize that a readjustment cannot be accomplished in a single year and that the effects of the current rebuilding of the inflated economy will not be completed in a few months. But long-range planning takes into account what must be done next year and the year afterwards, and preparations are in order for the manufacture of enough goods to meet estimated demands. The automobile industry is always watched closely because of an assumption that purchases of cars are related not only to the buying power of the public but to the quantities on which it may be safe for the manufacturers to base anticipated sales.

The impression is that pending wage negotiations will not result in settlements as high as had been expected, or at least that process will not be as gravely affected as might have been the case if the current recession had not occurred. Price adjustments in all industries are likely to be made to induce higher sales than have been hitherto thought possible.

On the whole, businessmen are not as gloomy about the long-range future as they were a few months ago. There is a general confidence that the "worst is over" and that rises in the stock market have been reflecting the feeling that inflation has been slowing down and will at least not go beyond its present level. The government has tried in various ways to stimulate production — as, for instance, in housing and urban development — and has lent a helping hand in other projects.

The net effect, however, is not likely to be felt for several months. The psychological mood is beginning to be one of confidence that the crisis has been met. The task from now on is to maintain a stable economy while the buying power of the American people increases. Prices will not be appreciably raised and, indeed, some may even be reduced.

The entire economic picture is changing slowly, but the trend is toward a recovery that may take a few months more to achieve. Once management in American business is convinced that the direction is upward, planning starts and business begins to move more and more toward higher production and increased employment.

The administration, of course, is maintaining a calm and unruffled position. It has from the outset insisted that restrictions of a sweeping nature — such as wage and price control — would do more harm than good and that inflation could be curbed by presenting the facts to labor and management so that the effects of any irresponsible attitude could be clearly foreseen.

One advantage, to be sure, is that the Vietnam War expenses are being steadily reduced and more funds are becoming available for domestic spending, which in turn can be helpful to the national economy. This is a financial stimulus that can hardly be measured at this time, but undoubtedly it is playing a significant part in holding down unemployment and, at the same time, keeping a steady flow of funds in financial markets for the use of business. Interest rates will not be going up and, indeed, show signs of being decreased very shortly.

All of this is part of the Nixon program which aims to win a victory over inflation while keeping the economy on an even keel through the period of readjustment that lies ahead.

Conversation at Dinner Table

© 1970 by NEA, Inc. Jim Bishop

"The subject of today's meeting is the Middle East and the chair will NOT recognize anyone who wants the floor for the purpose of defending the actions of Joe Namath!"

The leg of lamb and the small baked potatoes looked good surrounded by the fibrous stalks of broccoli, and the three-sectioned silver platter went the rounds of the table in a businesslike and silent way. Dinner at our house is almost always the discussion hour and sometimes, by the time the lemon sponge cake comes around, we have forgotten the main course.

There is a key to character in conversation and each of the four of us has his own. My wife, Kelly, too young and too good for me, relates everything, including war, to motherhood and the sanctity of family life. The Russian government may be lousy, she will admit, but she bets that the millions of political serfs want peace. Karen, 17, who sits on my left, is a slender blonde of incongruous beauty of face and soul; and all topics, including the state of the Wall Street market, are keyed to babies, a product which she favors in carload lots. Kathi, 15, the kid with the Miss America figure and the mind of an ascetic ecologist, listens, eats too fast, and cues her opinions on an old-fashioned concept called logic.

The subject last night was human progress. As the father of the clan, I toss the ball out and eat slowly as I watch the trained seals bounce it from nose to nose. Kelly thought that man has come a long way. Karen thought that the mortality rate for infants and mothers was worth all the other gains because, as she patiently explained, without babies where are you? Kathi thought that scientific advance within the past half century was so enormous that man is now at the mercy of his devices.

I said that I thought that man was no damned good. It was an automatic first down, but I realized that the woman would pile on and break both of my legs. They did. They did it with the kiss of traitors. Man, I insisted, has learned much about his environment, but very little about himself.

He was born selfish, putting everything into his mouth, and he never learned to stop. Each thinks only of his own appetites and satisfactions — this is as true of the banker who amasses money as it is of the sex fiend who amasses women.

I was wrong, wrong, wrong. Karen was still chewing on the final slice of onion in her salad when she asked to be excused, and stood. "Even Freud has been proved wrong," she said. "Do you know more than he?" This borders on insolence to the King of the household, but I permitted it to pass.

"It may be," I said quietly, with enormous control, "that Doctor Freud has been proved wrong — the imprinting stage for emotional scars, let us say, has been reduced from ages one to five to zero to two years of age, but that doesn't damage the edifice of psychoanalysis he built. It merely broke one of the windows."

"Do you think," asked Kathi, "that it is wrong to display intelligence in front of boys?" Yes, I said, I think it is wrong. Superior intellect in a girl can emasculate a boy. Dumb is clever. "Not me," said Karen, swallowing the onion. "If I feel I'm right I'm going to say it."

"What makes you think that man is no good?" my wife said, propping a book of sewing patterns against her coffee cup. I shrugged. "No one wants to hear it, but my point is that, even though he has made gigantic strides in science and is basically a cruel and selfish animal, concerned more with himself — even if he has to sacrifice his best friend to achieve it."

"Isn't that good?" Kathi said, working on a big piece of cake as though it lacked calories. "Ambition has its place," I said, "and I would worry about a boy who didn't have it. I'm arguing against the concept of bigger and better. Once we built an atomic bomb, but we had to deliver it by plane. Now we float it by missile. Then we put three bombs in one nose cone, each aimed at a different city. Is this progress?"

"Progress," said Karen, lifting seven pounds of school books, "is in knowing that life will continue—that innocent babies will continue to be born." "Their greediness," I said, "is also suspect. The first time after birth when they are placed with their mother, they do not know where the breast is, or how to feed. Within three days, they not only know where it is but how to hang on, which shows that infants three days old can think."

Kathi smiled. "You must admit," she said, "that in a way, older people know more and more about less and less. I have to go along with the babies. Thinking of the stomach first is a matter of self-preservation."

Rev. Berrigan: War Hostage

DANBURY, Conn. (UPI)—The Rev. Daniel Berrigan, S.J., says he and his brother Phillip, also a priest, are being kept as "war hostages."

Berrigan, a Jesuit, was one of the Catonsville Nine, convicted and sentenced to three years in jail for the destruction of draft records in Catonsville, Md. His brother Phillip, a Josephite, faces a six-year term for the Catonsville incident and for pouring blood over draft files in nearby Baltimore.

Phillip, 47, was captured shortly after the U.S. Supreme Court refused to overturn their convictions in April. Daniel, two years older, went into hiding and eluded FBI agents for four months before he was captured on Block Island, R.I. by agents posing as birdwatchers.

"I'm glad I went underground and I'm only sorry it couldn't have lasted longer," Berrigan told UPI in one of the few visits he was permitted.

Berrigan hoped his prominence would keep the brothers name before the public.

"In every sense of the word, we are war hostages so the American people will be kept from knowing the truth," he said. "But we will continue to speak out and communicate."

Bombs Damage Newly Integrated School

By United Press International
Two bombs went off outside a Rocky Mount, N.C., school early today—two days before the formerly all-black facility was to be integrated for the first time.

The first blast ripped out a three-foot square section of brick facing and shattered 15 windows at the G. W. Bullock School. Seconds later, another bomb went off on the catwalk of a high pressure water tank behind the building, sending water spewing out into the playground of the elementary school.

Dynamite was believed used in the blasts. The FBI and state officials have been called in to investigate the bombings.

The school is scheduled to open Monday for kindergarten and grades 1-3.

Thursday night, the school board of North Carolina's largest school district voted to "exert maximum effort" to implement a federal desegregation plan calling for the busing of about one of every four students.

The Charlotte-Mecklenburg School Board, in a televised meeting, said it had "no alternative" but to put the plan into operation. It called upon "all of our fellow citizens to put aside their personal feelings and join with the board of education in attempting to make the best of the situation."

The desegregation plan provides for the busing of about 20,000 of the district's 83,000 pupils. School board attorney William J. Waggoner estimated that 738 buses would be needed to implement the court-ordered plan for the Sept. 9 school openings. The state is lending the district 200 buses, but it still is 184 buses and 169 drivers short, he said.

At Norfolk, Va., Thursday, Federal Court Judge Walter E. Hoffman refused to delay the implementation of a desegregation plan for Richmond that requires the busing of about 13,000 children.

Sixteen Alabama school systems scheduled their fall openings today, but no major trouble was expected. Several systems began classes earlier this week without incident.

Around 45,000 students in Augusta, Ga., went to integrated classes for the third day Thursday while about 200 whites staged a march in favor of neighborhood schools. Several hundred blacks demonstrated again at Sparta, Ga., Thursday night to protest a desegregation plan that keeps one high school as predominantly white.

At Jackson, Miss., Dr. John Martin resigned Thursday as head of Mississippi's largest school district, contending that massive desegregation orders were making it "impossible to continue operating schools under the 'drastic changes.'"

In Tampa, Fla., Mayor Dick Greco said he has enrolled his two daughters in a private school rather than separate them under a school-pairing plan that goes into effect in Hillsborough County schools.

"I don't have any quarrel with integration, but to go twice as far to school makes absolutely no sense at all to me," he said.

Schools in Longview, Tex., opened Thursday with 36 buses, which had been bombed July 4, back in operation and carrying nearly 10,000 students to school.

Male Wins 15 Fair Awards In Altamont Food Contests

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Male superiority was exhibited in a female stronghold when Fred Schimmel, a pudgy newspaper district circulation manager, won 15 awards in food competition at the Altamont Fair.

But the Glenville resident used some recipes from "Aunt Venie" in winning one sweepstakes, 10 blue ribbons and four red ribbons for such things as branded mincemeat pie and whiskey ball confections.

"A sensation," Schimmel was dubbed by Mrs. Donald Terhune, who has been in charge for years of the foods competition at the fair, the combined fairs for Albany, Schenectady and Greene counties.

"He brought in a mince pie, piping hot," she recounted. "It was one of the best pies I ever tasted."

Always interested in food, Schimmel worked his way through school cooking in a diner. He did some cooking for youth groups, and still does, when minister of Annsville Union Church near Peekskill. When he fell in love, it was with a pretty nurse named Carol Valk who "sneaked in food" to the hospital where he was informed.

They were married in June 1967 and took a European honeymoon that included famous restaurants in Turkey, Greece, Italy, France, Switzerland, England and Holland.

"We enjoyed the food, but we had to go on diets when we got home," Schimmel said. "We were both up to 250 pounds. "My Aunt Venie — full name Lavenia Outwater — was a marvelous cook," he recalled. "She had recipe collections filled with gems collected from her family — titles like Aunt Dell's mustard pickles."

The recipe for mincemeat in the branded mincemeat pie, a sweepstakes winner, came from Aunt Venie.

Take heart, women. Maybe there's a recipe collection from Uncle Fred in your future.

Seven Major Cities Added To the Big Jobless List

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seven more major cities have been added to the Labor Department's list of "substantial" unemployment, which means six to 8.9 per cent of the local labor force is out of a job.

The additions, announced Thursday, bring to 31 the number of cities in this category, the highest total in nearly six years.

Added to the list were Detroit, the nation's auto production center; New Orleans; San Jose, Calif.; and Spokane, Wash., both home to key segments of the aerospace industry; Bridgeport, Conn.; Battle Creek, Mich.; and Corpus Christi, Tex.

The nation's over-all jobless rate is five per cent of the work force, highest in five years. A spokesman for the AFL-CIO labor federation blamed economic policies of the Nixon administration.

The Labor Department also added 13 smaller areas to the list—Florence-Sheffield, Ala.; Oxnard, Calif.; Bremerton, Wash.; Dodgeville, Wis.; and Ada, Altus, Anadarko, Claremore, Cordell, Marietta, Okmah, Tishomingo and Wagoner in Oklahoma.

The Labor Department said

business firms in areas classified as having "substantial" or "persistent" unemployment are eligible for preference in bidding on certain federal buying contracts.

The report said 595 areas in the nation now are classified as having either substantial or persistent unemployment including several years.

the 31 larger cities and 564 smaller towns.

Substantial unemployment means a jobless rate of 6 per cent or more. Persistent means the average rate has been 6 per cent or more for a year and has been at least 50 per cent higher than the national average for several years.

62nd Birthday

STONEWALL, Tex. (UPI)—Former President Lyndon B. Johnson's four grandchildren helped him celebrate his 62nd birthday Thursday at the LBJ Ranch with an informal dinner, a birthday cake and conversation with a gathering of family and a few friends.

"He just wanted to spend a quiet day with his grandchildren and if you could see those grandchildren you would understand," an aide in Austin said. "They're the cutest kids in the world, and he just adores them."

The Green Thumb Explains

Romance Blooms in Garden

Blossom drop of squash — the weather is good, mother nature sees to it that wind and insects will do the job for you automatically.

One of the worst villains in the garden is the squash vine borer. It causes wilting and death of vines. Small piles of a sawdust-like material (called "frass") on the ground indicates presence of borers. CONTROL: Spray the vines at the base of runners during late June and early July (after the blossoms have fallen). Since it's too late for this, you can attack borers already inside a stem. Take a pen knife and stab the grub. The wounded stalk is then placed on the ground and covered with soil for root formation.

FREE: Send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope for a copy of my guide, HOW TO GROW AND COOK PUMPKINS AND SQUASH.

WATERING PLANTS: If you plan a vacation and are worrying about your plants (house plants) getting water, here's a helpful trick: set a few building bricks in the bathtub with about one and one-half inches of water. Pots are placed on the bricks and automatically watered for at least two weeks. Another trick is to put several thicknesses of newspapers in a pan, saturate them well and place the pots on these. Never put newspapers directly on the tub as it's apt to stain the enamel. Some gardeners sink their pots in vermiculite, wet sand, or sawdust. Saturate these materials and water the plants first before packing the pots to their rims.

You can also place a plastic bag over the plants and tie securely around the pot. This forms a vapor-tight greenhouse which makes a fine "plant-sitter" for you.

GREEN THUMB CLINIC: A reader writes: Our tomatoes have a lot of fruit and leaves on, and they ripen slowly. Would it help to remove some of the leaves?

Answer: Removing some foliage might induce earlier ripening (by three or four days). Don't remove too many as it may bring sunscald. Keep in mind that temperature, not light is the factor which favors the ripening of tomatoes. Putting green fruit on the window sill will not help them to ripen.

Staple Gun Handy Tool

The upholsterer or man laying carpet, hammer in hand, must fill with tacks about as up-to-date as a blacksmith. Incidentally, it's because of the practice of keeping a supply of tacks in the mouth that tacks are sterilized and words to that effect still appear on packages.

But a faster, easier and far more efficient means of tacking has come about with the advent of the staple gun, sometimes called an automatic tacker.

Simply load the gun with staples, hold it against the work surface and squeeze the trigger. With no effort at all you have pounded home the staple with a 200-pound thrust.

Staple guns come in a variety of sizes. A good one for home use will take the more common staple sizes (3/16, 1/4 and 5/16 inches). Heavy-duty guns will handle maybe six or seven sizes, ranging from about 3/16 to 9/16-inch staples.

Heavy-duty units can be rented if you don't wish to make the investment. The smaller gun is worth buying and having around the house. You will find uses for it easily enough.

Indoors or out, wherever you would tack something, you can staple it.

Roll insulation is easy to install with a gun and without an assistant. Unroll and hold in place with one hand while you staple with the other.

If you are recovering a chair or sofa, use the staple gun to fasten the fabric to the wooden frame. Change the fabric on dining room chairs by removing the seats and stapling new fabric in place.

Putting up acoustic ceiling? Again you won't need that third hand if you have a staple gun. Hold the ceiling tile with one hand, staple with the other.

Fasten new window shades to the old rollers, tack felt underlay to the floor before putting on carpeting, staple tar paper quickly with a staple gun.

Put weatherstripping around windows with staples and use to fasten new screening material to wooden frames.

Fasten notices to the bulletin board, hold down model railroad track, fasten shelf lining paper or plastic easily with a gun.

Treat your staple gun as you would any other fine tool. Store in a dry area and don't toss into a drawer with other supplies dropped on top.

Never fire the staple gun when it is empty. This will shorten its life.

Thirsty Summer Trees

Trees especially weakened ones need an ample supply of water during the summer months. Moisture is essential now in those species that are laying down leaf and flower buds for next year.

Homeowners should try to aid their trees by watering during the oncoming dry periods. But, it does little good to water a tree near the trunk, reports Robert Bartlett, president of the F. A. Bartlett Tree Expert Company.

According to Bartlett, a tree should be watered out at the dripline or outer crown limit and beyond. "This is where the feeder roots are and water is absorbed through these tiny roots," he said. "If the soil is caked dry, avoid water runoff by lightly sprinkling the area first. Gradually the moisture will soak down. Then, let the hose run slowly all night over the outer root area."

Tree specialists have found that trees respond well to pressurized injections of water and nutrients into the soil by means of a large feeding needle. According to tests conducted by the Bartlett Tree Research Laboratories, such a procedure also breaks up heavily compacted soil.

Report Claims Radical Student Move Breaking

NEW YORK (AP) — American college students are largely moderate and the radical student movement is disintegrating, torn by factionalism and frustration, according to a report of the League for Industrial Democracy.

The report, including a survey of 50 campuses conducted by the league's Youth Project on Democratic Change, said the left-wing oriented student movement had deteriorated to a diversity of groups and goals "with no shared sense of direction and very often with profound and even bitter internal differences."

The league is a social reform movement founded in 1905 by Upton Sinclair, Clarence Darrow and Jack London. It is headed now by Michael Harrington, the Socialist leader, and concerns itself with political, economic and social issues.

In gauging student response to public figures, the most favored were Rep. Allard K. Lowenstein, D-N.Y., Vietnam moratorium leader Sam Brown and Michael Harrington. Black Panther leader Huey Newton and radical theorists Tom Hayden received favorable but "lukewarm" responses, the league reported.

The least favorable response was to Gus Hall, leader of the U.S. Communist party.

Despite expressions of general dissatisfaction with their country, most students questioned ranked the United States as their second most favored homeland, behind Sweden and ahead of Israel, Canada and England. Only 7.5 per cent said they would prefer to live in a Communist country.

Woodstock GOP Picnic Slates Regan, Speaker

WOODSTOCK — Edward V. "Ned" Regan, Republican candidate for state comptroller will be the guest speaker at the annual Woodstock Republican Club picnic at Rawhide Ranch Saturday from 2 to 6 p.m.

Chicken barbeque will be served, according to Woodstock Town Justice James R. Myers, chairman of the event.

Entertainment, swimming and special events will be arranged. Local GOP candidates will circulate through the crowd.

A lawyer and businessman, Regan was appointed by Gov. Rockefeller to serve on the Commission to Study Causes of Campus Unrest.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (UPI) — The market opened firm in moderate trading today.

Hope that credit may ease has been cited as one of the reasons for the market's recent upsurge. A small Maine bank after the close Thursday reduced its prime interest rate. Analysts said investors may interpret the move as an encouraging sign since the last cut by large banks followed similar cuts by small banks.

Shortly after the opening the Dow Jones industrial average of 30 selected blue chips stood at 760.13, up 0.34. Of the 345 issues crossing the tape, 176 advanced and 77 declined.

In the electronics Control Data gained  $\frac{1}{2}$  to 35. Honeywell  $\frac{1}{2}$  to 89. General Electric slipped  $\frac{1}{2}$  to 78. In the motors General Motors gained to 72, and Chrysler to 24.

Arrest Five On Harassment Of Principal

CAIRO — Accused of harassing the principal of the Cairo Central School and his wife by driving past their home here and shouting obscenities, two girls and three teenage youths were taken into custody by Leeds State Trooper A. J. Peterson at 5 p.m. Thursday.

Troopers said the principal, Earl Bailey and Mrs. Bailey were standing on the lawn in front of their home when the incident occurred. Bailey recognized one youth and notified authorities. Warrants were issued by Town Justice Nicholas Bier and Trooper Peterson later took the five in custody on harassment charges.

The accused were identified as Agnes Ditter, Julius Ditter, Sarah Brennan and Joseph Gherardi, all 17 and residents of New York City, and Robert Viscovich, 17, of Ancram.

The defendants pleaded guilty later before Judge Bier. They were each given a conditional discharge and warned that if they are convicted of any offense in this town in the next six months they will be arrested and sentenced to terms in the Greene County jail, authorities said.

BIG WINNER — Winning was only the first obstacle encountered by Mark Schaffer, two-year-old son of Clarence Schaffer, Coopersburg, Pa., as he cleverly maneuvers his "shaggy" prize across the midway in the Kutztown Fair currently running near Reading, Pa. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Man in Glasco Mishap Held on Drunk Driving

GLASCO — A New York City man was arrested in Glasco at 1:10 a.m. today and charged with driving while intoxicated.

Thomas E. Quigley, 40, of 234 E. 337th Street, New York City, is in Ulster County Jail in lieu of $250 bail following a motor vehicle accident on Hudson Street which led to his arrest.

According to a report of the Ulster County Sheriff Department, Quigley was traveling south on Hudson Street hill and ran off the highway about 500 feet from the Delaware Street intersection striking a wooden fence and concrete wall before coming to a stop. The Quigley vehicle then backed up to clear the wall and reentered the high-lieu of bail pending appearance at a later date.

The arrest was made by Katherine E. Martino of Deputy Donald Policastro assisted by Deputies Douglas Van Glasco.

Quigley was arraigned before Town Justice Michael Catalinmann.

New York State Fair Feature: 'Italian Holiday' Fare to Soul Food

The Art and Home Center's Demonstration Kitchen will offer State Fair goers daily, September 1 through 7, from "Italian Holiday" fare to soul food: standard, fattening goodies to low calorie and low cost dishes.

Sixteen food specialists will appear throughout the week and can be roughly classified into those demonstrating Italian foods, economy meals, low fat and low calorie dishes, meats, dairy products, refrigerator cookery, recipes using wine and coffee brewing. Demonstrations are scheduled for 11:00 a.m., 12:15 p.m., 3:45 p.m., and 5:45 p.m. daily. After the last demonstration, the kitchen is open each evening for public viewing.

Mrs. Elizabeth Heineman, who operates her own gourmet cooking school will demonstrate authentic dishes from three Italian cities. Hortense Bell, home service director of Consolidated Gas Supply Corporation, will also present Italian foods. Italian foods from the freezer are the specialty of Eleanor Lynch, Cheryl Lavin and Sue Day of Niagara Mohawk Home Service department.

The soul food expert is Inez Kaiser, author of a cookbook on that subject. Helen O'Brien, Taylor Wine Company, will show "the crowning magic of wine," and meat demonstrations will be done by Walter Streightjiff, American Sheep Producers Council (using lamb) and Penny Curtis of P & C Food Markets (who will prepare steak). If your husband prefers diner coffee to yours, David Rettig, American Coffee Bureau, will show you the art of good coffee brewing.

"New Fashions in Cooking with Dairy Foods," will be the offering of Harriet Gavenda, executive director, Dairy Council of Central New York. Gourmet foods that are low in calories and in fat, are the specialty of Helen Belinkie, another cookbook author, penny-stretching meals will be the contribution of Betty Massett and two assistants from the Onondaga County Extension Service — Gaye Drew and Gladys McElroy. Betty Hergert will also demonstrate low calorie cooking using an Osterizer.

Visual Communication Course Will Be Offered by UCCC

A new expanded course, Visual Communication: Advertising Design, will be offered by Ulster County Community College this fall and continue in the spring semester.

The course for three college credits each semester is open to all students and qualified residents in the community. No previous art experience is necessary. The course will be offered at the College's Stone Ridge campus on Monday from 7 to 9:40 p. m.

Art 120-121, Visual Communication: Advertising Design I and II, offered by the Department of Visual Arts at Ulster County Community College, stressed the basic concepts and problems in advertising. The course is designed to provide the student with an understanding of lettering, layout processes, and the various types of visual communication.

The fall session is designed as an introduction to the philosophy and basic visual concepts of advertising. The problems of the graphic designer are considered in relation to contemporary concepts. The course seeks to show how advertising is generated by the creative striving of business and how, in turn, that effort is enhanced and implemented by advertising design.

It will also endeavor to convey a sense of values of the place of advertising in the world of which it is a part, and the importance of various developments within advertising. The student, in order to express ideas clearly and directly, will define, create and prepare individual problems involving advertising design and layout.

The spring session of the course will further develop and refine the principles acquired in the first semester. The student will translate visual concepts into a variety of applications such as newspaper layout, magazine design, booklets, typography and multi-media.

The advertising course will be taught by Mario Cruz, Mr. Cruz is a designer in the graphic design department of IBM. He studied at Cooper Union, and received his BFA and MFA from Yale School of Arts and Architecture, New Haven, Conn. His design work includes awards from the New York Art Directors and scholarship from Cooper Union. He has designed folders, booklets, typography, catalogs, trademarks, symbols and consumer products. He is concerned with imparting new concepts and techniques of the Graphic Arts to the students in the Visual Communication program at the college.

Stars of 'Hee Haw' At SPAC Sept. 2

Archie Campbell, Roy Clark, Junior Samples and other stars of CBS-TV's No. 1-rated "Hee Haw" show bring an evening of country music, folksy humor and "good old-fashioned corn" to the Saratoga Performing Arts Center Wednesday, Sept. 2, beginning at 8:30 p. m.

Archie Campbell, a writer-regular on the program, has done everything from singing in a duo to emceeing rodeos and bankers' conventions. Together with Junior Samples, who calls himself "the world's biggest liar," in reference to both his 300 pounds and his tale-telling ability, he contributes a good deal of the show's "down-home" humor.

Roy Clark is no laggard in the comedy department either, though as one of the great country guitarists he has much else to offer as well. Roy has appeared on a host of network and syndicated TV shows in addition to "Hee Haw" and also been featured at fairs, rodeos and nightclubs from Arizona to Massachusetts.

Hank Thompson and the Brazos Valley Boys, Doug Kershaw, Mary Taylor and Grandpa Jones round out the C & W line-up. Of these, Thompson, who has been one of the country's top ten country recording stars for the past 15 years, needs the least introduction.

Doug Kershaw is perhaps best-known for "Louisiana Man," his classic ballad of life among the Cajuns of his native Louisiana bayou country. Astoundingly prolific, he has written no fewer than 19,000 songs over 25 years and learned to play 29 musical instruments. Most recently, his "swamp rock" has made him a hit at the rock festivals and at both Fillmore's.

Dynamic song stylist and a songwriter as well, Mary Taylor has performed around the world, on Major TV shows and on the live circuit. Singer-guitarist "Grandpa Jones" has been a member of the Grand Ole Opry for more than two decades during which time he has entertained in Europe and the Far East.

Tickets for the "Hee Haw" show are currently on sale at the S.P.A.C. main box office on Route 50 and at Ticketron outlets in the area and throughout the East.

Nytralite Does Its Bit For Clean Air

By MATT SPIRENG

EDDYVILLE — Despite the fact that the plant shuts down, it is neither in possible nor illegal to continue operations even while the anti-pollution equipment is being repaired, according to the plant manager, Lone Star Cement Corporation of Greenwich, Conn., the parent company of Nytralite. "Makes it a policy to operate with dust collectors operating, or not to operate," Reid said.

Regular employees at Nytralite, 34 in all, are kept on when the plant is not operating in order to do the necessary cleaning and repairs, explained Reid. He added that the voluntary shutdown costs Nytralite approximately $15,000 a day in payrolls and loss of money from non-production.

The company, which first installed anti-pollution devices approximately five years ago, has spent $500,000 to $150,000 to control pollution since then, according to Reid.

Control devices at the plant include screens, dust collectors, and a mechanical and wet scrubber at the several stages in the production of the lightweight aggregate.

In addition to control devices now being repaired, a new dust collector is being built which is scheduled for completion in 1971, Reid added.

"We don't pretend to be perfect, but we're trying to do something," the plant manager said.

Meanwhile, State Assemblyman H. Clark Bell visited the Nytralite plant Thursday in order to look over repair and maintenance operations on the control equipment.

Accompanying Bell on his tour of the plant was Edward T. Feeney, of the law firm of Rusk, Rusk and Feeney, his counselors.

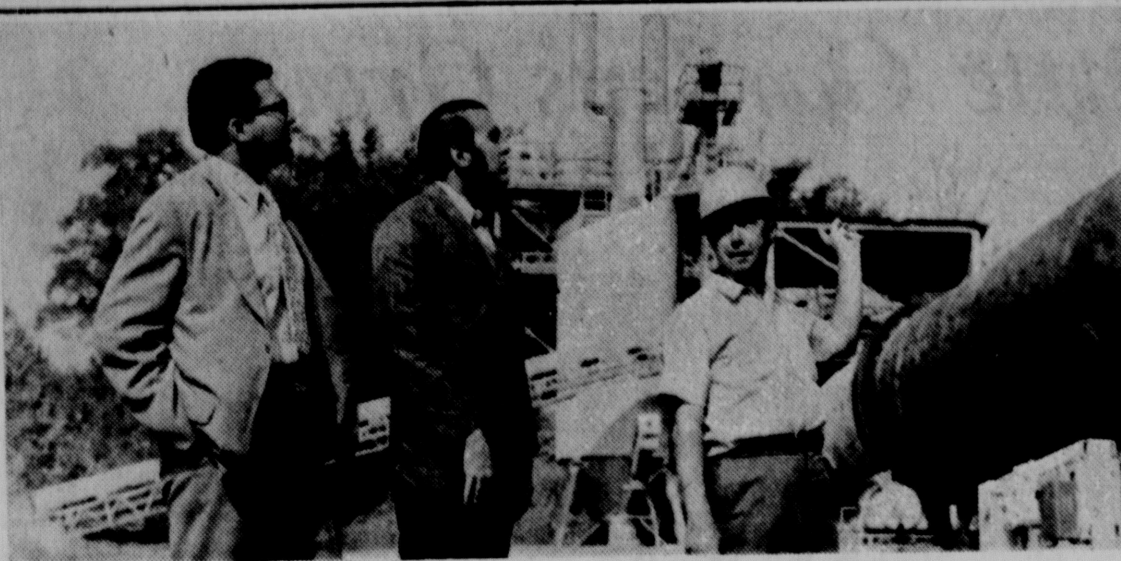

Reid told The Freeman that the plant has had "many complaints in the past, but none in the past two years. We've been taken on the carpet before the Pollution Control Board," Reid concluded.

Nytralite has been cooperating and following their suggestions, he added.

Nytralite owns approximately 400 acres of quarry land south of Kingston under which runs a huge vein of shale, "with reserves for about 100 years," Reid explained.

Lightweight aggregate, produced from the shale, is used in structural concrete for high-rise buildings and in concrete blocks, the plant manager said.

At present the plant is allowed to admit only six pounds of dust an hour into the air, while producing 900 tons of lightweight aggregate a day, the Pollution Control Board," Reid concluded.

Saugerties Adopts Subdivision Controls

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

SAUGERTIES
A series of meetings, a public hearing and minor revisions during the past few months culminated Thursday night in the adoption of subdivision controls by Saugerties Town Board.

The vote was 3 to 1 in favor with Councilman Francis Myer casting the negative vote. Myer contended that the controls were too stringent. Supervisor A.

Michael Schovel abstained. He said he was disqualifying himself because he held an option to purchase 35 acres of land.

The original draft prepared by the Town Planning Board and the town's planning consultant Manuel S. Emanuel was first presented at a public hearing April 23 but was adjourned until May 7 to permit time to prepare additional copies of the subdivision controls for public distribution.

Following that public hearing, several recommendations for revision were discussed and consideration by the Planning Board and Town Board and the final draft was ready late in June. The Town Board met again on the controls and last week held an executive session with representatives of Saugerties Builders Association. No further changes were reported and the matter was brought to a vote last night.

The appointment of a building inspector to administer the controls is now the prime concern of the Town Board. This is expected to be discussed at a future meeting of the board.

Three house trailer applications were approved including Dewey Kolb, Route 9W near Glasco Turnpike; Durwood Swart, Route 32, Cedar Grove and Mrs. Patricia Fiechter, Manorville Road.

Supervisor Schovel noted that some trailers were moving into the town without first securing permits and the matter of enforcement was discussed. The matter of snow removal in the Barclay Heights-Glasco area was reviewed due to the shortage of snow removal equipment in the Town Highway Department.

The Town Board discussed the possibility of letting the snow removal for all of Barclay Heights and the hamlet of Glasco out for bids to relieve the Highway Department. A private contractor in the past has been removing snow in the use of the land on the site the Planning Board and John G. Lawrence, Ronald J. Williams and John Williams, all of the Saugerties Jaycees. Lawrence is Jaycee president.

Approval of the subdivision controls brings the town closer to zoning. The next step is expected to be the presentation of a building code ordinance which has been prepared by the Planning Board and will be ready for consideration of the Town Board shortly.

The proposed building code ordinance will serve as the enabling legislation for enforcement of the State Building Code adopted by the town some time ago. The Rev. William Baudendistel attended the meeting as an observer of the Town Planning Board.

The purpose of the group would be to assess and consider the best future use of the landfill area, possibly for recreation. The committee named by Supervisor Schovel includes Harvey Fite of High Woods and Rudolph Kaiser of Shultis Corners, both residents of the landfill area; George Leombruno of Barclay Heights, for the Recreation Commission; Gregory Fowler of Barclay Heights for the Planning Board and John G. Lawrence, Ronald J. Williams and John Williams, all of the Saugerties Jaycees. Lawrence is Jaycee president. Approval of the subdivision controls brings the town closer to zoning. The next step is expected to be the presentation of a building code ordinance which has been prepared by the Planning Board and will be ready for consideration of the Town Board shortly.

The Caddie Who Came Back to Haunt His Teachers

Mike Reasor's 66 Leads Dow

By DAVE GOLDBERG
Associated Press Sports Writer
CLIFTON N.J. (AP) — Mike Reasor once caddied for Arnold Palmer and has learned a lot about golf from Billy Casper. But he's beginning his quest for the sport's richest prize by giving both of them a lesson.

Reasor, a 28-year-old former high school teacher in his second year on the PGA tour, fired a six-under-par 66 Thursday to take a one-stroke first round lead in the $300,000 Dow Jones Classic.

That was seven strokes better than Palmer for whom he caddied during the 1966 U.S. Open in San Francisco, and four better than Casper, this year's leading money winner and the sport's third million-dollar player.

"He's been a great help to me," Reasor said of Casper, with whom he played 36 practice holes Tuesday.

One stroke behind Reasor were the veteran Paul Harney, a part-time tour player, and Terry Wilcox who shot a 67 over the 7,085-yard Upper Montclair Country Club course. Bobby Nichols, Bruce Crampton, Bob Lunn and George Archer were grouped at 68 with Jim Jamieson and Jim Ferriell, and ten more players had 69's, including PGA champ Dave Stockton.

Most of the pre-tournament favorites were well off the pace. Casper was at 70 with Bob Murphy, who won the last tour tournament here two years ago. U.S. Open champion Tony Jacklin was at 71; Lee Trevino at 72; Palmer and Jack Nicklaus at 73; Dave Hill at 75, and Gary Player and Sam Snead at 76.

Reasor, who comes from Seattle but plays out of the PGA player's school at Palm Beach Gardens, Fla., has been on the tour for 15 months. But he won less than $3,000 last year and has only $6,400 this season.

His only victory came in the Manitoba Open on the Canadian tour, which earned him $1,200. He can win that music by finishing fifteenth in the Dow Jones, which has a first prize of $60,000.

Reasor played an errorless round in carding his 66. He had six birdies and was without a bogey as he consistently hit the greens close to the pine.

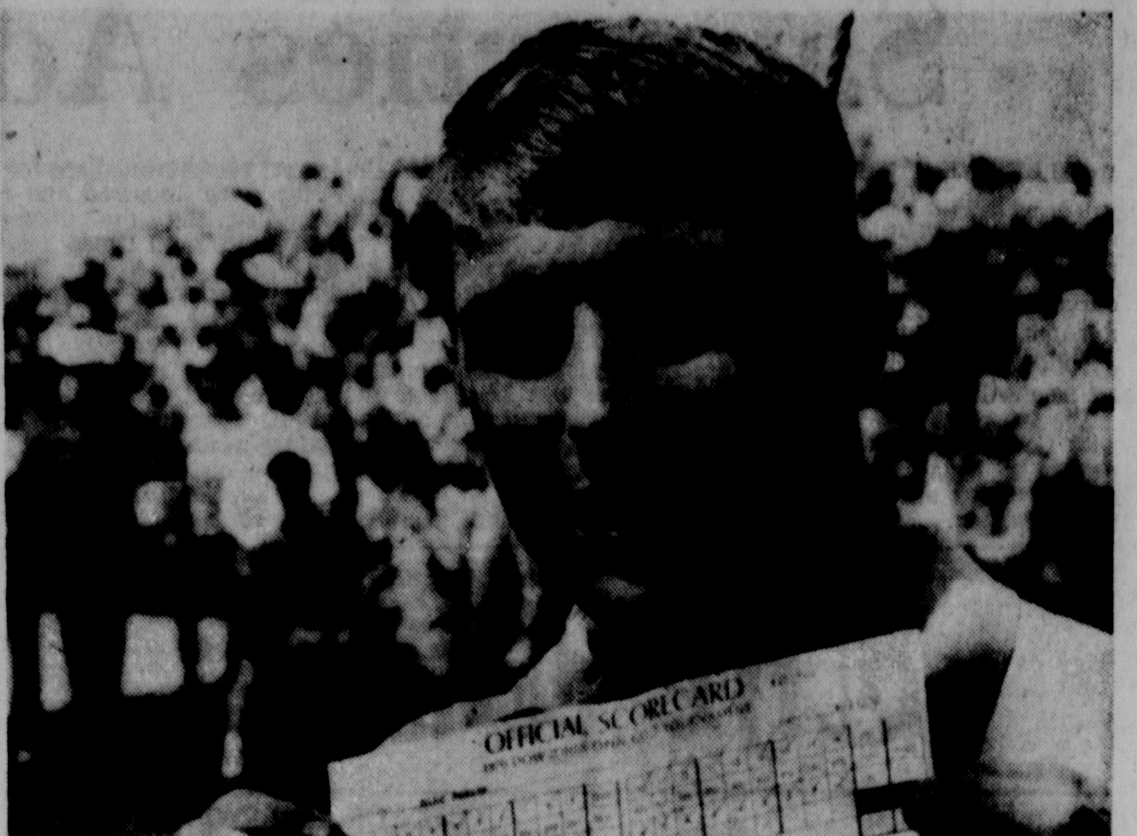

His introduction to big-time golf came in 1966 in San Francisco, when he caddied for Palmer in the open in which Arnie lost a seven-stroke lead to Casper and the playoff the next day.

Reasor got to know Casper better the following year while he was a student, a golfer and an aspiring basketball player at Brigham Young.

Their formal introduction came when Casper came to the campus to address the student body. Since then, they've been close friends and Reasor is following Casper's path by preparing to become a Mormon.

Reasor's basketball career ended at about the same time. "The coach came up to me, put his arm around me and said 'I'd better stick to golf,'" he recalled.

After his graduation from Brigham Young, Reasor took a job teaching disadvantaged and retarded high school students in Seattle. But the golf course beckoned and he earned his tournament player's card last year.

MAGIC CARD — Mike Reasor, who once caddied for Arnold Palmer in the U. S. Open, holds up his first round scorecard which records his six-under par 66 for the first round of the $300,000 Dow Jones Open at the Upper Montclair Country Club, Clifton, N. J. The score, just one stroke off the course record, gave him the first round lead. (UPI TELE- PHOTO).

Fernandez's Explosion Dwarfed Cuellar's 20th

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Oakland A's have had their fireworks turned off but they'll have something new when they return home from a disastrous road trip—an exploding catcher.

As if things weren't bad enough for the A's, whose 6-4 loss to Baltimore Thursday night was their sixth straight since leaving home and dropped them 8½ games behind Minnesota in the American League West, the Oakland city fire marshal revoked the license of the company that handles the fireworks displays at the A's home contests.

The action was taken because of three grass fires during an Aug. 19 game caused by sparks from the fireworks, set off behind the center field fence.

The frustration of the winless road trip boiled over Thursday night when catcher Frank Fernandez fired his batting helmet onto the screen behind home plate and toward the press box to demonstrate his displeasure with a ruling by the official scorer.

Fernandez ripped a smash off third baseman Brooks Robinson's leg in the eighth inning but shortstop Mark Belanger recovered the ball and heaved it past first base. It was ruled a two-base error and Fernandez did his helmet-throwing act as he crossed the plate with the final run of the game.

He was thrown out of the game by umpire Larry Barnett, and, since the A's had used their other two catchers as pinch-hitters earlier, second baseman Dick Green had to finish up behind the plate.

In other American League action, Minnesota downed Boston 5-2 and Milwaukee blasted Cleveland 14-2.

In the National League, the New York Mets beat Atlanta 5-1, the Chicago Cubs defeated San Diego 5-1, Philadelphia turned back Cincinnati 6-3, St. Louis took San Francisco 4-1 and Houston edged Montreal 5-4.

Fernandez' eruption somewhat overshadowed Mike Cuellar's 20th victory for the Orioles and Frank Robinson's emergence from a lengthy batting slump.

Cuellar, who shared the Cy Young Award last season allowed 10 hits, including a homer by Joe Rudi.

Robinson, mired in a .243 slump with only two home runs and 12 runs batted in since suffering a shoulder injury July 9, belted two tremendous homers and drove in three runs. Terry Crowley also homered for the Birds.

The race in the National League East tightened a bit as the Mets and Cubs won and both gained one-half game apiece on rival Pittsburgh. The Mets trail the Pirates by 2½ games, the Cubs are four back.

Jim McAndrew halted New York's three-game skid by firing a five-hitter at Atlanta. Donn Clendenon gave McAndrew all the runs he needed with a two-run double in the first inning off loser Phil Niekro, 10-16.

Milt Pappas hurled a six-hitter as the Cubs whipped the Padres on the hitting of Glenn Beckert, who had a double and three singles, and Billy Williams, who stroked two doubles and a single and drove in two runs. Nate Colbert homered for the losers.

It was a day of contrasts for the pitching Perry brothers. Jim, 19-11, hurled the Twins past the Red Sox and socked two doubles in the process. George Mitterwald homered for Minnesota, Rico Petrocelli for Boston.

Gaylord, 17-13, was the loser as the Cardinals and Bob Gibson, 19-5, beat the Giants on Jose Cardenal's two-run tie-breaking single.

Deron Johnson, slugged a two-run homer and Grant Jackson hurled 5 1-3 innings of scoreless relief in Philadelphia's victory over Cincinnati. Larry Hise hammered two doubles for the Phils and one of them drove in the winning run in the fourth inning.

Montreal's Mike Wegener retired the first 11 Houston batters before consecutive homers by Jim Wynn and John Mayberry started the Astros to victory. Singles by Denis Menke and Doug Rader in the sixth produced the decisive runs. Larry Dierker picked up his 12th victory despite a two-run homer by John Bateman.

Low Krausse scattered seven hits and Tommy Harper, Danny Walton and Roberto Pena homered as the Brewers trounced the Indians. Harper's circuit was his 25th, matching the club record set last year by Don Mincher. Vada Pinson and Duke Sims connected for Cleveland.

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI)—Syracuse University football practice officially begins at 9 a.m. today and that is the deadline for seven blacks to sign an agreement if they want to be reinstated to the team.

After his graduation from Brigham Young, Reasor took a job teaching disadvantaged and retarded high school students in Seattle. But the golf course beckoned and he earned his tournament player's card last year.

Among the black protesters is Al Newton, the university's seventh leading all-time rushing leader, listed in Syracuse record books behind such greats as Jimmy Brown, Larry Csonka, Floyd Little and Ernie Davis.

Members of the football squad met Thursday and voted to postpone all pre-practice activity to give the blacks time to consider the Corbally ultimatum. The squad voted its full support of the coaching staff "but we want the issue of the seven blacks resolved."

Quarterbacks Paul Paolitto and Randy Zur, two of the team captains, said the postponement was to "dramatize the Syracuse football situation."

The blacks were suspended from the squad when they boycotted spring training in support of their demand that the university hire a black man for the coaching staff. Since then, Carlman Jones, a Negro who formerly played with Florida A&M has been hired. Coach Ben Schwartzwalder reinstated only if they sign the pledge.

New Pony Champs
WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP) — Buena Park, Calif., is the new Pony League World Series champion and a large measure of credit goes to 14-year-old pitcher Tom Sabol.

Sabol collected three series victories and hit at a .500 clip.

He fired a two-hitter and struck out 16 batters Thursday night to lead his team to a 1-0 victory over Cayce, S.C., for the title.

Fabulous Fred Davi

CHARLES J. TIANO

Yes, Virginia, there is a Fred Davi and he has been a Santa Claus to Kingston area baseball for more than four decades.

Never a player, he launched his career as a manager and promoter of the game in an apple orchard at Glasco. A far cry from the splendid setting of Deitz Stadium and its new lighting system, to be sure.

He made his way from the orchard to the inner sanctum of the New York Yankee locker room where he built an incredible and fascinating friendship with Joe DiMaggio.

How many people, do you think, could induce the Yankee Clipper to break away from the post-game activities of the Yankee Old Timers Day, rush to Kingston and put on a clinic for Little Leaguers? Not many and perhaps nobody.

THE RELATIONSHIP between the urbane, sophisticated DiMaggio and the earthy Davi has long puzzled and confounded those with whom they are mutually acquainted.

"He makes Joe laugh," says Frank (Spec) Shea, one-time teammate of Joltin' Joe, leaving the impression that it's not always easy to get the serious DiMag to cut loose with a belly laugh. Obviously, Fred didn't earn the nickname Laughing Boy without good reason.

As a wartime operator of the Waterbury Brasscos, a Connecticut semi-pro team heavily larded with major league players who were fighting the Second World War at nearby New London naval base, Davi made baseball history of a kind.

He claims a baseball record which isn't in the books during his regime at Waterbury. His team, which featured Jimmy Piersall as bat boy, played three major league teams — Phillies, Yankees and Dodgers at municipal stadium in Waterbury and four big league clubs within two months.

"I'll bet no other city in the country can match that record," says Fred. "As a matter of fact our team won five games in seven days in late September, 1945, the other victories being over the strongest state rival, the West Haven Sailors, 13-10 and 17 to 0."

THE BOOKING of a major league club for exhibitions was the idea of Hank O'Donnell, long time sports editor of the Waterbury American. War restrictions had limited major clubs to playing only against service teams and there was no remuneration either for the club or players.

It developed that the Braves could be had for $1,500, still a sizeable sum in 1945. O'Donnell gave Davi the required political muscle and the Park Department agreed to permit the game to be played. Waterbury hadn't had a big league team in its midst in nine years and the announcement was greeted with enthusiastic approval.

The Braves were in sixth place and were not going to improve, but they had some fine players, among them outfielder Tommy Holmes and catcher Phil Masi. Holmes was batting around .340 at the time and was leading the National League. (He eventually wound up winning the title with .352 and his statistics included 28 home runs and 117 RBIs.)

Masi, a steady, hard working receiver, was hitting around .275.

As part of the ballyhoo it was planned to honor Holmes, so a huge banner was placed across the lobby of The Elton Hotel for all the Braves to see when they arrived the night before from New London. It read: "Welcome, Tommy Holmes, National League Batting Leader."

Masi took one look at it and shouted: "What the hell is going on in this hick town?"

Don't they know we have other stars besides Holmes?"

MORE THAN 6,000 paid to see the game and there was an advanced sale of 3,000. Duffy Lewis, the Braves' road secretary, was ecstatic about the turnout. Boston's cut could have been as much as $3,000, but Lewis wanted Davi to get a break out of the promotion and settled for a lot less. The Braves won the game, 13-3.

The success of the game prompted Davi to seek other clubs. Next came the Phillies and General Manager Herb Pennock volunteered to have Jimmy Foxx, then a Phil's pinch hitter and coach, and Manager Ben Chapman pitch. Ben, a former Yankee outfielder, had done some pitching in the majors but neither he nor Foxx fooled the Brasscos, who won 13-3 before 2,100.

Davi next booked the Yankees, with whom he was to have a lifetime love affair. The Bombers (for real, then) had George (Snuffy) Stirnweiss bidding for the league title; Charlie Keller, Nick Etten, Bud Metheny, Bill Drescher, Roy Grimes and Floyd (Bill) Bevens, among others. Marse Joe McCarthy was the manager, but he didn't go to Waterbury, leaving the managerial job to Coach Johnny Neun.

FRANK (SPEC) SHEA, a Yankee minor league fresh out of the Army in Germany, was back in the Naugatuck area getting in shape for his first throwing in three years. Given his chance against the parent Yankees, he was never better. He helped blank the major leaguers, 1-0, allowing only five hits in seven innings. The fine stint brought an invitation from Gen. Larry MacPhail for "Spec" to report with the early Yankees the following spring. The rest is history. He was the American League Rookie of the Year in his first season with the Bombers.

Two days later, Leo Durocher brought the Brooklyn Dodgers to town. It was next to the last day of the regular season. Branch Rickey told the players they didn't have to come to Waterbury but if they did, all the money would be split among the squad. Naturally they came, and were also shut out, 1-0, before 3,100 fans. Al Sherman, a Dodger farmhand picked up for the day, allowed the Dodgers four hits.

"I'll never forget Durocher and road secretary Harold Parrott dividing up the money in the dressing room," says Davi. "It was like a giant crap game. It was a couple of thousand dollars for their end and they wanted the money in small bills. So, there was Leo and Parrott making piles of green paper for each member of the team. There was also the matter of 27 cents in change and they were having a hard time dividing 27 into 22 players."

YES, VIRGINIA, that was just one glorious phase of Fred Davi's fantastic career as a baseball promoter. There were many others, like teams in the New York State League, New York - New Jersey League, Hudson Valley League, the Kingston City League (old and new) countless exhibitions with the great road teams — House of David, Negro National and American League (before Branch Rickey) — a thousand games all over the northeast landscape of the United States.

What keeps him going, you ask, Virginia? Love of the game, we suppose. He had a tremendous ball club going for him at Dietz Stadium this season — and pitchers like Buster Narum, Charlie Moore and Ron Thomas. The fans stayed away by the thousands but the 85 to 100 who faithfully attended the games were amply rewarded.

This you can be sure of, Virginia. When Fred Davi decides to throw it in, there'll be no more Santa Claus . . . and no more local baseball.

Glamor-Boy Bradshaw Puts Giants to Test

By GREG GALLO
UPI Sports Writer

Blending the flair of their glamor-boy rookie quarterback, Terry Bradshaw, and a new found strength given them by coach Lou Riecke, the revitalized Pittsburgh Steelers met the New York Giants Friday night at spanking new Three Rivers Stadium before a sellout crowd of 51,000 and a national television audience.

Bradshaw, the passing whiz from Louisiana Tech who was pro football's No. 1 draft pick last spring, led the Steelers to their first victory after 15 straight losses two weeks ago against the Minnesota Vikings. Bradshaw, who is battling to win the first string quarterback job from ex-Notre Dame star Terry Hanratty was awarded the game ball after he hit on 12 of 30 passes against the Vikings.

The Steelers, winner in just one of 14 regular season games last year, have played aggressive, football during the exhibition season and the man most responsible for their new-found spirit is former Olympic weightlifter Lou Riecke.

Head coach Chuck Noll appointed Riecke to a new post on the Steelers' staff—strength coach. Riecke, a physical fitness devotee, puts each Steeler through a grueling weightlifting drills along the sidelines for 15 minutes each day.

"It stands to reason that stronger football players become better football players," Riecke said. "And the better physical shape they're in, the more immune they become to injury. That's my job — to make our athletes stronger."

The Steelers are the third NFL team to use the strength system in conditioning their players. The other two are the San Diego Chargers and the world champion Kansas City Chiefs.

The Giants, who ran up a 28-0 lead on their intra-city rivals, the Jets, last week and then hung on to win 28-24, might have a tough time getting their offense rolling against the Steelers. Scrambling quarterback Fran Tarkenton has been bothered by a groin injury.

In the only other game Friday night, the Buffalo Bills take on the Washington Redskins.

In Saturday's action, Baltimore plays Miami, Cleveland pits Philadelphia against Detroit.

Hulme — The Most Wanted Driver

By GENE W. HINTZ

ELKHART LAKE, Wis. (UPI)—The largest field of the year will be out to catch team McLaren Sunday, but chances are Denis Hulme & Co will end up on top again in the $80,000 Road American Can-Am, sixth race on the rich Canadian-American challenge cup circuit.

The McLarens, with Hulme leading the way, have won 18 successive Can-Am outings, including all five this year. Dan Gurney, no longer with the team, won the first two events of 1970 and Hulme has won the last three.

A total of 39 cars—most of them older model McLarens—have entered already and that's about a dozen more than were in any of the other five races this year.

Hulme and Peter Gethin of England are the McLaren team drivers and each will be behind the wheel of McLaren M8D's. Lother Motschenbacher in a McLaren M8B is third behind Hulme and Gurney in the season point standings and Roger McCaig in a McLaren M8C is third.

Major exceptions to the McLaren domination are Lolas entered by Chuck Parsons and Peter Revson, the Ferrari of Pedro Rodriguez and the Shadow, an all-new car to be driven by either George Follmer or England's Vic Elford.

Revson will be commuting to California this weekend, qualifying for the Can-Am here today, flying west for qualifying Saturday for the Ontario 500, returning here for Sunday's race and then returning to California Monday for carburetion tests of his speedway car. If anyone is to break the McLaren monopoly, it's likely to be Revson with Parsons, a darkhorse.

Revson finished second to Hulme at Mid-Ohio last Sunday and it appears that his Lola T200 is finally ready.

It was the first race the car finished this year and Revson had gone through nine engines before finding one that was durable enough for the 200-mile Can-Am grind.

Parsons had been idle almost all season, but finished fourth at Mid-Ohio last week. He has the advantage of familiarity with the twisting, hilly, four-mile Road America track, having won three successive RA 500-mile runs during the now abandoned U.S. road racing series.

Mrs. Harris Annexes 14th at Twaalfskill

KINGSTON Mrs. William D. (Chris) Harris has won the Twaalfskill Club women's championship for the 14th time in 16 years as a member of the club.

The fine Port Ewen shotmaker carded a 36-hole medal score of 82-80-162 to lead runnerup, Mrs. George (Inger) Rusk by 22 strokes. Mrs. Rusk carded rounds of 88 and 96 for 184.

Mrs. Michael (Pat) Groppuso placed third with 97-93-190 in the three-player flight. Admittedly feeling "great," Mrs. Harris said she had her game pretty well under control and except for a couple of double-bogey 7s on the par-five, 578-yard fifth hole, she was satisfied with her game.

The slim, dark-haired golfing grandmother found the par-3, 122 yard second hole a birdie paradise during her four swings around the venerable Twaalfskill layout. She birdied it three of her four shots at it.

Each time it was a well spanked 6-iron shot that put her in birdie range. In the Tuesday round, she got down in par figures on No. 2 on the front nine, then birdied it from two feet.

In the Thursday round, Mrs. Harris hit two almost identical 6-irons for birdies of about 18 to 24 inches. "I guess you'd have to say I'd had the hole pretty well zeroed in," she quipped.

One of Ulster County's premiere women golfers of the past two decades, Mrs. Harris also has two Ulster County Women's championships to her credit. She also had several runnersup spots in the heyday of Mrs. A. J. DeLisio of Woodstock.

With Mrs. Harris' crowning at Twaalfskill, the county women's championships have been decided at three of the four area clubs. Mrs. DeLisio won her 8th Woodstock crown last week and Mrs. Arthur Motzkin her first at Wiltwyck.

The Sawyerkill Country Club championship remains to be played.

RAY RITACCO

Ritacco New Cadet Star

WEST POINT slow start last fall and served as fullback for the jayvee team in September. His work was impressive there, thus prompting the coaching staff to bring him up to the varsity.

During each of the past two seasons Army's football team has been blessed with a very gifted running back whose talents enabled him to carry the team through some rough moments. Two years ago it was Charlie Jarvis, and in 1969 Lynn Moore took over.

Both Jarvis and Moore led the Cadets in rushing and scoring during their respective senior seasons, and both were the inspirational leaders all football teams must have.

Given his first opportunity to start in the Boston College game a year ago, Ray made the most of it and has been in the starting lineup ever since. Not only did he score a pair of touching downs against the visiting Eagles on that afternoon, but he also churned out 73 yards to make a most auspicious debut.

By the time the year had drawn to a close, Ray had moved into third position on Army's rushing line despite his limited amount of playing time. He accounted for 266 yards on 65 carries and caught three passes for 35 yards and a touchdown. But it wasn't just his yardage that counted. He has a great competitive spirit, and his blocking ability makes him a natural for the fullback position.

Ray finished his sophomore season with a 77-yard performance against arch-rival Navy. The Cadets won that one, 27-0, and Ritacco hopes that game was a sign of things to come. He's a tough athlete—tough enough to finish fourth in the Eastern Intercollegiate Wrestling Championships in the 170-pound class.

Ritacco may not rush for 100 yards this year or next, and he may not make Army gridiron followers forget either Charlie Jarvis or Lynn Moore. But Ritacco can be expected to make exceptional contributions to the West Point football program during the next two seasons. But Ritacco got off to a

Gretel Moves For the Kill

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — The Australian yacht Gretel II meets the French yacht France today in what could be the wind up in their America's Cup trial.

Gretel II holds a 3-0 lead in their best-of-seven series to decide a challenger for the cup finals, starting Sept. 15, and is favored to sweep.

In a last-ditch effort to win, Baron Marcel Bich, president of the challenging French syndicate, said he would take the wheel of France himself.

Intrepid, raised from the mothballs after winning this cup in 1967, continued to dominate Valiant Thursday in the American trials. Intrepid scored her fourth straight victory over Valiant, winning by 40 seconds in a race shortened by a dying breeze on the last leg.

Intrepid led at every mark of the course and appeared to be on the way to her widest margin of victory over Valiant since the current series started Aug. 18. But Intrepid sailed into an area of light wind on the fifth leg and Valiant, still carrying a good breeze, regained most of her lost ground.

The victory was the seventh straight for Intrepid since losing her series opener to Valiant, now 4-4 in the trials.

Rommel, 72, Dies; Ex-Major Hurler

BALTIMORE (AP) — Eddie Rommel, who moved from the Baltimore sandlots into the American League limelight as a pitcher and umpire, is dead at the age of 72, after a long illness.

Rommel broke even his first season with the old Philadelphia Athletics in 1920, but before he called it quits in 1932, the 200-pounder had run up a total of 171 victories and 119 defeats during his 12 seasons with the A's.

His best years were in 1922 and 1925 when his knuckleball pitching earned him records of 27-13 and 21-10.

All-America Finals In L.L. World Series

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (UPI) — The 24th annual Little League World Series has turned into an All-American affair.

The last of four foreign entries was eliminated Thursday when Chinandega, Nicaragua bowed to Campbell, California, 2-1.

It meant the championship will return to American soil after three years when Campbell plays the title game Saturday against Wayne, N.J., a 4-0 victory over Highland, Ind., Thursday.

Wayne coasted on the two hit pitching of Tom Olsen, who struck out 12 and allowed two walks in registering the victory over Highland starter Rick Domsic.

Len Fruci started a four run rally for Wayne in the fourth with his second home run in two games. Marc Epstein followed with a double and scored on a single by Steve O'Neil, who took second on the throw to the plate, went to third on a sacrifice and scored on a single by Bill Lee. A passed ball and a wild pitch moved Lee to third, and he scored on a two out double by pinch hitter Bob Houghton.

Paul Shurman relieved Domsic in the fifth and retired all six men faced.

Campbell's Mike Alvarez limited Chinandega to three hits and retired the last nine in order.

Campbell scored twice with two out in the first on consecutive singles by Ron Colburn, Tom Davis and Lan Rowland.

Chinandega's lone run in third was unearned. Don Urroz singled with one out, but was forced at second on Luis Centeno's grounder to short.

Francisco Paz singled, and Centeno scored when infielder Rowland misplayed a grounder by Fidel Vasquez.

In a consolation game, Germany defeated Valleyfield, Quebec, 1-0.

Act on Drug Abuse

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune, N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I am a

registered nurse and work in a small hospital. Our director of nurses is a young divorcee.

Recently, while on duty, I observed this girl "sign out" a narcotic in the name of a patient and disappear into the ladies room with it. Moments

later she returned to the nurses'

station where she charted the medication on the patient's

rounds.

Abby I know this girl took the drugs herself, but I have no proof. The patient on whose chart she charted the

medication is elderly and very disoriented most of the time.

She has noticed, more recently, that narcotics have been signed out by this same nurse and charted on the charts

of other patients in the same

mental conditions as the elderly

gentleman.

I haven't reported this to anyone as I have no proof, but perhaps I should. Or should I mind my own business, hoping someone else will discover the same thing?

"ELWOOD"

DEAR ELWOOD: Report

your suspicions to the hospital

director, or senior administrator. Independently of what he says or does, also notify the director of the State

Board of Nursing. A confidential investigation will be made and the situation will be handled

from that point on. You will then have discharged your obligation properly and perhaps the young woman with the alleged drug problem can be helped.

DEAR ABBY: How do you get rid of a guy you don't care

for?

LORI

DEAR LORI: Introduce him to a GIRL you don't care for.

DEAR ABBY: What does a woman do when she discovers that her husband whom she has dearly loved for 20 years has been unfaithful.

He has admitted it. (He had no choice.) Now he says that the affair is finished and he wants only me.

I do love him and want so desperately to believe him, but how can I be sure he won't resume the affair? The other woman is younger than I, attractive and unhappily married.

She is easily accessible, too.

We have two teen-aged children who would be affected by a separation or divorce, but

I must think of my future when they are grown and gone. If I am to make another life for myself my chances are better before I get much older.

Abby, is it possible to evenually get over this terrible nightmare, or does it go on forever?

NEEDS HELP IN B.H.

DEAR NEEDS: Yes, it is possible to get over the "nightmare." Women have told me that it sometimes takes such a crisis to "test" a marriage,

and theirs have emerged

stronger and better for the test.

Believe your husband, and don't torture yourself with thoughts of what "might be." Nothing

that's worth having comes easily.

DEAR ABBY: This is the second marriage for both of us, and it would be perfect except for one thing. My husband wants to go visit his daughter on our vacation and I don't want to go because the last time

we went my whole vacation was spoiled by something which upset me.

In the bedroom where his daughter put us there was a large picture of her mother. It was setting on the bureau facing the bed. It could have been placed in another room

while we were there. Being a mother myself I thought it would be wrong of me to ask her to remove it, so I didn't say a word.

I can't understand why she would want to hurt me that way. She knows I have been a good wife to her father. Her mother died an alcoholic and gave her father a lot of trouble.

Am I wrong to feel the way

I do? Would you go again if you were in my place?

SECOND WIFE, Sat. at 9:10 a.m. WKNY-1490

DEAR WIFE: Yes. But first

I would tell my husband what upset me on the last visit there,

thus precluding a repeat performance. It could have been an oversight on the part of the daughter. I think you were wrong to have suffered in silence.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your

chest. Write to ABBY, Box

69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

For a personal reply enclose stamped addressed envelope.

Quick Quiz

Q - According to tradition, who gives the first toast to the bride and groom?

2 More Copters, Jets Lost to Enemy Fire

SAIGON (UPI)—The U.S. Command today reported the loss of two more helicopters and an F100 Supercobra jet and an F4 Phantom II fighter in Viet Cong and North Vietnamese ground fire. It brought to four the number of helicopters shot down in two days.

The command said in a delayed report the jet was south of Dak To, 280 miles north-northeast of Saigon. The pilot was killed.

U.S. spokesmen said an Army UH1 Huey helicopter was shot down near the Gulf of Thailand near the southern tip of South Vietnam Thursday. The crew escaped injury. Another Huey copter was hit by ground fire near An Khe, 258 miles north-northeast of Saigon. One crewman was injured.

The reports of the latest helicopter crashes followed Thursday's announcement that a big troop-carrying CH47 Chinook helicopter was hit by a Communist rocket grenade on the northern coast in one of the worst such crashes of the war. A total of 36 Americans were killed in the crash of the Chinook and another Huey copter 87 miles southwest of Saigon, both on Wednesday.

Communications issued today showed no overnight B52 raids in South Vietnam for the first time since Aug. 5. Military sources said it was possible most of the Stratofortresses were busy hitting Communist supply routes in Eastern Laos.

Reports said there were no major ground actions involving American troops.

WHITE CEMETERY BURIAL — Mrs. Mary Campbell leaves Federal Court in Miami, Fla., with NAACP Attorney James Matthews after a judge ruled that her son, Pontexter Eugene Williams should be buried at a cemetery in Ft. Pierce, Fla., which was reserved for whites only. The funeral of the Vietnam war victim will take place Saturday. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Only 15 Years Old and Already Wounded Twice in Vietnam War

FT. CARSON, Colo. (AP) — Walter Lee Martin is a twice-wounded veteran of two tours in Vietnam and is only 15 years old, says the U.S. attorney's office.

Martin of Dothan, Ala., 6 feet 3 and 198 pounds, joined the Army three years ago under an assumed name and went to Vietnam where he was wounded at the age of 13. His real identity eventually was learned and he was shipped home, according to Asst. U.S. Atty. James Richards.

Now, two years later, the Army has found that Martin somehow got back into its ranks under another alias. And, Richards said, Martin has been married for four months.

Sometime after being sent home, Richards said, Martin obtained the identification and orders of a S.Sgt. Albert Lewis Jr., got back into the Army and was shipped to Vietnam where he again was wounded.

He was sent to Ft. Gordon, Ga., to recover from his wounds. Apparently while on leave from Ft. Gordon, Richards said, Martin—still posing as Lewis—went home to Alabama and married.

Early this month, he was assigned to duty with the military police at Ft. Carson.

The real S.Sgt. Albert Lewis Jr. was in Vietnam where he re-enlisted and requested emergency leave home.

While drawing up a pay voucher for Lewis' leave, the Army apparently learned they were paying two S.Sgt. 'Albert Lewis Jr.s,' Richards said. The Army notified Ft. Carson and Martin was arrested by the FBI and charged with a fraud on the government.

Richards said he would request that prosecution be deferred and that the probation department recommend a course of action. He indicated Martin may be placed on one year probation and sent home.

Seek Moral Victory In End of War Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George McGovern says he and other Senate war critics will consider anything above 40 votes a moral victory for the "amendment to end the war."

"I'm hopeful we'll get a majority of votes in the Senate," McGovern said.

But anything above 40 votes, he said, would be a declaration "that for the first time in the history of the United States a very substantial number of senators have voted to terminate a war in the midst of hostilities."

"That would be a remarkable expression. I think, of the discontent and concern in the country about an indefinite involvement in this war," said McGovern, a South Dakota Democrat.

Opponents of the amendment have denounced it as a blueprint for the first military defeat in U.S. history.

A vote on the amendment is scheduled Tuesday.

Republican Leader Hugh Scott has predicted about 35 votes for the amendment, which sets a Dec. 31, 1971, deadline for U.S. military disengagement and withdrawal from Southeast Asia.

"I submit that Vietnamization exposes American men to more danger than virtually any other alternative," McGovern said Thursday of President Nixon's war policy.

"It literally invites the sort of

Spiro Renews Cambodia Pledge

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew made an officially unscheduled but long planned visit to Phnom Penh today to renew his pledge the Nixon administration stands behind Cambodia in its struggle against the Communists.

Agnew, who 24 hours ago denied he had any plans to visit Cambodia, immediately conferred with Premier Lon Nol on arrival in Phnom Penh.

The vice president was to go on to Bangkok, Thailand, today for the last stop on his Asian tour.

The vice president's Air Force Two jet landed at Pochentong Airport, which had been closed to commercial traffic for several hours as a security measure, and was greeted by Lon Nol, Cambodian Chief of State Cheng Heng and other government officials.

Official sources said Agnew spent time with both Lon Nol and Heng in secret discussions and then got a series of briefings would take "a number of days" upon North Vietnam to abide by the Geneva Convention in the treatment of POWs.

Meanwhile a Pentagon spokesman said Thursday "at least 19 American prisoners... have been murdered by the enemy or allowed to die from malnutrition and disease."

Hanoi's MIG Fighter Muscle Gets a Big Soviet Lift

SAIGON (AP) — The Soviet Union has built North Vietnam's MIG fighter strength to nearly three times its size at the height of the air war three years ago, U.S. military sources say.

The Soviets also have modernized the North Vietnamese air force with strong reinforcements of advanced MIG21 jets, rated a match for America's F4 Phantom fighters.

According to latest intelligence, the North Vietnamese now own more than 225 MIGs. They had about 80 in the fall of 1967.

Sources said the Hanoi command pulled back its MIGs from forward bases after losing a MIG21 five months ago while it was harassing a U.S. reconnaissance plane over North Vietnam. That was the 11th MIG kill claimed by the United States since the start of the air war in early 1965.

The bulk of North Vietnam's air force now is deployed at four fields around Hanoi and the port of Haiphong.

The remainder—about 70 MIGs—are based in southern China, where much of the North Vietnamese air force took refuge during U.S. air strikes against North Vietnam.

The continued basing of North Vietnamese MIGs in China is regarded as an indication that Hanoi believes there still is a chance the United States might resume bombing of North Vietnam, although from the American side the possibility seems remote.

Reconnaissance photographs of MIG bases in North Vietnam provide evidence of other precautions. The North Vietnamese have built concrete shelters to protect their planes on the ground.

The Russians, who provide most of North Vietnam's more sophisticated military gear, have improved Hanoi's air force with more than 80 MIG21s. Three years ago, the North Vietnamese had only 17 of these advanced models.

The rest of the MIG force is made up of old MIG15s and MIG17s, plus some younger MIG19s.

U.S. reconnaissance planes keep a frequent watch on forward airfields for any signs of the North Vietnamese moving their MIGs down to contest American jets operating in the area of the demilitarized zone and over Laos.

Treasury Head Favors New High-Speed Plane

WASHINGTON (AP) — Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy, reversing his position of a year ago, has endorsed federal assistance for development of a faster-than-sound commercial airplane.

Kennedy said in a statement submitted Thursday to a Senate subcommittee the department changed its position because "it now appears that a viable foreign competitive aircraft will be in service in 1974."

He referred to the British-French Concorde which, he said, has produced better than expected results.

The Senate transportation appropriations subcommittee is conducting hearings on whether to continue the government's $1.3 billion assistance program to develop a faster-than-sound commercial airliner.

Last year the Treasury opposed a further heavy commitment of federal funds, asserting the SST probably would result in a further balance of payments deficit in the absence of a competitive foreign aircraft.

Kennedy's statement was contained in a packet of endorsements from Cabinet officers and heads of government agencies submitted to the panel by the White House.

Paul W. McCracken, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, said economic considerations point strongly in the direction of continuing the SST program through the production of a prototype.

McCracken said, however, the government should insist that the production stages of the aircraft should be financed by private industry.

The government has committed $1.3 billion to the prototype development, the manufacturers—Boeing Co. and General Electric—$356 million and the airlines $82 million.

William M. Magruder, project director for the Transportation Department, said the government will recover its investment in royalties when 300 SSTs have been sold and make a billion-dollar profit with the sale of the 500th plane.

Magruder also assured the subcommittee that SST noise will be less annoying on landing and takeoff than present day long-range jets now in service.
